DEER, MOOSE & ELK

Zooworks®

Martin J., age 7

Deer are so playful. They like to shed their antlers against trees. When I'm walking around the forest, I try to find those trees. It is so fascinating.

Karsen T., age 7

Deer, deer, fluffy and white.
Deer are racing in the night.
Deer are racing fast and slow,
Come on, deer, let's go go go!

Mary S., age 8

Porter M., age 8

The doe trots gleefully through the meadow.

She likes to watch her fawns go.

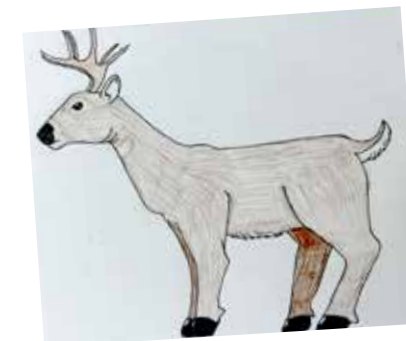

She likes to lie down.

She plays Hide and Seek until all her fawns are found.

Ainsley M., age 12

Deer Detective

To discover something hiding in the picture above, use the information in Ranger Rick Zoobooks "Deer, Moose & Elk" and follow these directions:

1. If it is true that all members of the deer family are plant eaters, color A brown. If it is true some deer eat only meat, color A blue.
2. Color the letters in front of each true statement tan.
 - B It takes a male deer four or five months to grow antlers.
 - C The biggest deer in the world is the North American moose.
 - D A deer has only two chambers in its stomach.
 - E A buck grows a new pair of antlers each year.
3. Read the list of names below. Color the spaces light green that refer to members of the deer family.
 - F caribou (reindeer)
 - G elk
 - H wapiti
 - I bighorn
4. Color the J spaces dark green if some deer species need our protection. Color the J spaces red if all deer populations are increasing rapidly.

Sawhorse Reindeer

Well, here's a fun project for any time of the year. You can find most items you'll need around the house or at your local home supply store. Be safe—always ask an adult to supervise your work when working with tools. So let's get started with this cute reindeer you can use on your porch or yard, as a table centerpiece, or as a holiday decoration.

You will need:

- ▶ 2 sawhorse brackets
- ▶ one 2" x 3" x 6' board
- ▶ wood glue
- ▶ wood clamps
- ▶ 1 wooden round drawer pull
- ▶ paint, brown or tan
- ▶ 4" paint brush
- ▶ 2 large washers
- ▶ 2 tree branches
- ▶ 12" of rope
- ▶ a smock or paint shirt to protect your clothes

Follow these steps:

1. Ask an adult or the supply store lumber clerk to make the wood cuts for this project (five 1' sections and two 6" sections).
2. Put on your smock.
3. Glue 2 one-foot pieces of wood to one of the sawhorse brackets to make the back legs. Repeat this with two more one-foot pieces to make the front legs. Secure each bracket and set of legs with the clamp. Let the glue dry.
4. Remove the clamps and set the "sawhorse" upright. Glue a one-foot section of wood into both brackets to form the body. Secure with wood clamps and let the glue dry.
5. Remove the clamps. Now, glue a 6" section of wood to the end of the "body" to form the face. Again, clamp and let the glue dry.
6. Paint your reindeer. Let it dry.
7. Glue the large silver washers to the "face" for eyes. Glue the drawer pull to the "face" for a nose. Glue two branches to the reindeer "face" near the ears for antlers. Secure all with clamps and let the glue dry.
8. Glue the one-foot section of rope to the back end of your reindeer. Fray the end of the "tail" with your fingers.
